OPAL - EBON

Ebons are one of the two 'Ebonite' races, easily identifiable by their natural brightly coloured hair, pupil-less eyes and generally calm demeanor. Aside from the colourful flare, Ebons appear 'human' in almost every other sense. Ebons are able to control the Ebb by the means of a mysterious resource known as Flux. Control of the Ebb allows Ebonites to perform otherwise impossible tasks, bending the very fabric of reality. Unlike their Waster cousins, Ebons are not naturally destructive, though to think of them as harmless would be a gross misjudgement. Many Ebons focus on the healing and communication aspects of the Ebb, allowing them to integrate well into almost any squad. They are naturally social and while many have an air of arrogance about them, they understand empathy as well as any other race on Mort.

Opal is a medic, proficient both in the Heal Ebb Discipline and in conventional paramedical aid. While she does not think of herself as physical, her strength and capability with both her blade and pistol make her more than capable of looking after herself. Opal is very much a 'think first' character. Like many Ebons, she is calculated and patient, able to see the bigger picture and put personal safety and the safety of those around her at the forefront of the mission. Her role in Blistering Rain is a valuable one and she is well respected by her squad mates for the rational mindset that she brings to the team.
